LIBERTY LOAN BONDS

Every Effort Being Made to Push Their Sale in Alexandria—Committees Busily Engaged.

If the sale of the Liberty Loan Bonds is not a success in the city of Alexandria it will not be for lack of effort on the part of the various committees who are engaged in the work. As previously stated in the Gazette, a fifteen-day campaign is under way. A committee representing the various civic organizations, the Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants' Association and others are taking an active interest in the work which is being vigorously prosecuted.

Eighteen men have been drafted to deliver three-minute speeches in the theaters, one at each theatre each evening for the next nine evenings. Only three minutes will be allowed to each one in which to call attention to the various points concerning the bonds. The names of the gentlemen selected are: Leo P. Harlow, Julian Y. Williams, James R. Caton, Hon. C. C. Carlin, Dr. Llewellyn Powell, Edwin B. Hard, R. E. Knight, Leopold Ruben, A. D. Brockett, R. S. Jones, J. W. May, V. W. Boswell, Dr. Wm. M. Smith, S. G. Brent, J. Randall Caton, Carroll Pierce, Harry B Caton and Dr. M. D. Delaney.

The banks are to do all in their power to assist all who desire to purchase bonds on the installment plan, or otherwise, and it is hoped that through the combined efforts a generous allotment of the bonds may be placed in the hands of the people of the city before the campaign comes to an end.

In addition to the other committees previously appointed to help in the cause, J. H. Trimyer has been named chairman, and Captain W. H. Sweeney vice chairman, of a committee to take up the work among the fraternal bodies, and Miss Helen Norris Cummings to solicit among the ladies of the city.

Alexandria's banking institutions have brought approximately three hundred thousand dollars worth of the bonds to date, which is certainly commendable. Their action demonstrates in a very practical manner that they are willing to "do their bit," and it is believed that the people generally may be relied upon to do theirs.

So much has been published regarding the bonds, that it seems superfulous to add more. The fact that they are guaranteed by the government makes the security the best obtainable, and everyone who can buy one should be proud to own it because it is issued for the cause of freedom and liberty.

GERMANS BEATEN AGAIN.

Lose Heavily in Fierce Drives Against French Lines, Only to be Forced to Retire.

Paris, June 1.—The Germans attacked the French lines in the Champagne with extreme violence at several points Wednesday night. The tacking forces, however, were checked, at some places by the French fire, and at others at the point of the bayonet, the Germans retiring each time after heavy losses, the War Office announced today.

The fighting was particularly desperate in the region of the Teton, the Casque and Mount Haut, the attack being launched in four successive waves after a heavy bombardment from large calibre guns and suffocating gas shells. The French took prisoners during the fighting, including two officers. The statement follows:

"There was pronounced activity by the artillery south of St. Quentin and on the Chemin-des-Dames north of Jouy, near Cerny and in the vicinity of Hurtebise, where a number of patrol encounters also occurred.

"In the Champagne the enemy made sharp attacks at several points on our front during the night following violent bombardment, in which poisonous gas shells and shells from large calibre guns were discharged. Northwest of Auberive and at Mont Blond all the German efforts were checked by our fire. The enemy attacked with particular strength our positions at the Teton, the Casque and Mount Haut. We repulsed four different attacks after a struggle of extreme severity.

TO HOLD JOINT SESSION

Both Boards of City Council Will Assemble Tonight to Consider Prices of Water.

As has been stated, there will be a joint session of the City Council tonight, at which time there will be an interchange of opinion concerning the appeal of the Alexandria Water Company to the State Corporation Commission for authority to materially increase the present water rents in this city.

The commission will not pass upon the petition until both sides are heard; hence consumers of Cameron water are not liable to have snap judgment pronounced upon them. Council will pave a way to meet the demands of the water company, which the great bulk of the community regard as onerous and unjustifiable.

The Gazette yesterday in referring to the late Benjamin Hallowell, an enthusiastic promoter of the movement to supply Alexandria with Cameron water, brought to the minds of our older citizens others long since dead, who were equally interested in the enterprise and who had the interest of the community at heart.

Although there were times when frictions occurred between water consumers and the water company officials there never was the slightest hint that the company would devise a plan to add to the burdens of their subscribers.

SALOON IN OLD MINE RAIDED

Virginia Underground Retreat Had Plenty of "Booze."

Roanoke, Va., June 1.—Revenue Officers C. L. Spangler, Claude F. Beverley and T. F. Ross, who have just returned to Roanoke from a raid in Henry county, discovered the second under-ground saloon which they have encountered within the last two weeks. This time an abandoned ore mine in a hillside served the purpose of a bar equipped with syphons, a pump, measuring cups, a lantern and all the paraphernalia needed for dispensing the blocade product of some nearby still.

The officers were put on the trail by the presence of an automobile and three negroes, who were recognized as being from Danville, miles distant. In the undergrowth nearby were found two suitcases and a five-gallon keg filled with whiskey. In the cave all barrels had been emptied except two, one containing about 40 gallons of well-ripened apple brandy and the other a smaller quantity of corn whiskey.

Recently in Franklin county officers stumbled upon a graveyard of booze. More than a score of "graves" were dug up and barrels of liquor found.

NEW BULKHEAD FINISHED.

Shipyard Work Recalls Historic Warehouse Sites.

Clarke and Winston Company, of Washington, has finished the construction of a new bulkhead about 400 feet long, at Dean's shipyard, and the space behind it, about a hundred feet wide, is being filled in. The material used in the filling in is being obtained from the sand and clay banks back of the shipyard. On these banks the toabcco warehouses, the first buildings erected in Alexandria—over 200 years ago—stood when what is now Alexandria was known as Belle Haven.

The ground being made at the boatyard will be used for the erection of stocks on which twenty submarine chasers will be built within the next eight months. Machinery to be used in the construction of these craft has recently been installed at the shipyard.

GIRL KILLED BY ELEVATOR

Miss Esther M. Davis Crushed in Baltimore Store.

Baltimore, June 1.—Miss Esther M. Davis, 19 years old, 441 North Milton avenue, was crushed to death yesterday by an elevator in the store of Hochschild, Kohn & Co., Howard and Lexington streets.

With a crowd of other employes at the store, she had boarded the lift shortly after 8 o'clock. Between the second and third floors the elevator stopped, and Walter Phelps, 1807 Barclay street, the dispatcher, instructed Robert Hopkins, 1639 Friendsbury Place, operator of the car, to assist some of the girls in stepping from it to the second floor, a distance of something over two feet.

Several of the girls had stepped out and Miss Davis was just in the act of leaving the car when it suddenly shot upward, presumably released by the removal of the weight. Before Hopkins could pull the girl back she was caught between the elevator and the top of the shaft opening. Her chest was cruched and it is thought her neck was broken.

Coroner Driscoll was notified, and probably will hold an inquest tonight.

With the British Forces in the Field, June 1.—Kaiser Wilhelm is now pouring out the vials of his wrath on the United States.

Ecpionage Bill Doomed

The hopes of the administration for a censorship provision in the espionage bill were practically dashed to the ground yesterday afternoon. By a vote of 184 to 144, the House of Representatives recommitted the espionage bill, with explicit instructions to the conferees to eliminate the censorship section. The provision authorized the President to declare what would be publishable. Although it had been anticipated that the Democratic ranks would stand strong for the administration's policy, no less than thirty-seven Democrats bolted and voted with the Republicans. On the other hand, despite the recent caucus of Republicans against censorship, ten of that political persuasion voted against their fellows.

Hoarding Food a Felony.

Hoarding, storage or destruction of food, fuel or other necessaries of life to limit supply or affect prices is made a felony under an amendment to the government's first food bill, adopted in the Senate yesterday without a record vote. Several Senators protested that the provision was too drastic and would prevent legitimate storing to equalize markets, but all efforts to modify it failed. Violation of the section would be punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than six months nor more than three years. Holding by farmers or others of the products of land cultivated by them is exempted.

President Wilson issued a proclamation today in which he calls attention to the fact that persons between the ages of 21 and 31 who may leave the country to evade registration will subject themselves to imprisonment for not less than one year, after which they will be duly registered.

The government has decreed new and drastic repressive measures against alcoholic beverages. Persons getting drunk or drinking to excess in public places are liable to eighteen months' imprisonment.

Man Secretes Gallon in Bushes on Confines of City, Which Falls Into Hands of Police.

The police have requested the Gazette to insert the following advertisement:

WANTED—The owner of a gallon of whisky found near Braddock station, on the electric railway last Wednesday.

We insert the advertisment, but it is not likely that the owner of the liquor will appear, claim his property and pay charges.

About noon on Wednesday a man left an incoming electric train at Braddock station, within the present limits of the city of Alexandria. He was carrying a bundle in his arms, and after leaving the train people living nearby saw him proceed to a clump of bushes. When he emerged it was seen that he had left his bundle. The police were notified, some residents of the vicinity being positive that the man had deposited an infant in the bushes.

Sergeant Wilkinson and Officer Zell searched the bushes where it was said the man had entered, but for a time were unabel to locate the bundle. Later, however, the sergeant made a more thorough search, and while so engaged espied an old wash boiler, under which he looked. The bundle was seen, and upon opening it eight pint bottles of whisky were disclosed.

It was determined to keep the matter a secret and to await the reappearance of the owner of the liquor. The officers aited until night, when the man appeared. He approached the spot and raised the boiler, but to his disappointment found the liquor had vanished. Suspecting he was being watched, he bolted out of the neighborhood with the celerity of a deer.

VIRGINIANS IN DRAGNET

Wm. V. McCoy Bound by Oath to Inaugurate Reign of Murder and Rapine.

Department of Justice officials have launched a dragnet investigation into the anti-draft conspiracy in the mountains of Southwest Virginia, which was uncovered through the arrest at St. Paul, Va., of William V. McCoy and J. W. Phipps, alleged ringleaders of the movement to resist the Army conscription law. The two men are now in jail at Roanoke. Warrants are out for a score of others.

So far as the investigation has gone, the organized movement against the draft appears to be confined to the McCoy-Phipps gang in the Clinch Valley.

Reports from the department's agents declare that 300 mountaineers are members of the McCoy-Phipps anti-conscription gang. These mountaineers, it is charged, not only pledged themselves with a blood oath to resist the draft law, but to wage war on the rich landowners, kill them and seize their property to distribute it among themselves. They are also said to have planned to rob the banks in their section and divide all loot among themselves; to seize the speculators and the "revenues;" to blow up all the bridges and tunnels in their section of the county, destroy the public buildings at St. Paul and overcome squads of the Second Virginia Infantry doing duty in the vicinity and take possession of their arms and ammunition.

The half million dollar stock farm of Gov. Henry C. Stuart of Virginia, is located in the section in which the gang proposed to operate.

The Department of Justice is said to have been in possession of information that McCoy, a cousin of the famous McCoys of the Hatfield-McCoy, feud who terrorized peaceful farmers in the lonely Virginia and Kentucky mountains years ago, was fomenting the plot for more than three weeks. The investigation is said to have shown that Phipps, foreman in the extract plant at St. St. Paul, was McCoy's confidential man. The foreman is said to have had a number of men employed under him signed up in readiness for the call to arms.

The oath that each of the mountaineers identified with the movement is said to have signed, is taken almost word for word from that used by Quantrell's band which operated in Kansas and Missouri during the Civil War, and to which Frank and Jesse James belonged.

A report of the investigation was sent to Washington and the Attorney General directed the arrest of McCoy and Phipps. Special Agent Devlin, assisted by several Federal officers, went to St. Paul early Saturday. McCoy was found in a small hut, where he conducted a cobbler shop. When arrested, he was at his bench, with a plentiful supply of ammunition nearby. Phipps was at work in the plant when arrested. Both were put aboard a train at St. Paul and taken to Bluefield, W. Va., a Pocahontas mining town, and later to Roanoke.

Members of the Second Virginia Regiment, doing guard duty in the mountains surrounding St. Paul, assert that the feudists, in carrying out these declarations, intended to assassinate Governor Stuart, whose home is in Russell county contiguous to the St. Paul line, and confiscating his vast estate, and dealing similarly with other wealthy land owners in that county.

GERMAN SOCIALIST TERMS.

As a cotemporary observes, the German Socialists have no standing whatever in a peace convention. They went over, body and soul, to the Imperialists before the war.

During the war they have had the impudence to ask the Socialists of France and Italy to urge their people to assent to a peace on the basis of a German victory. They have cheerfully followed the Kaiser in his attacks on other countries, and now that their resources are beginning to be exhausted they are anxious for peace—on terms favorable to Germany.

Their terms are no annexations and no indemnities. Germany has from the first been insisting that it would get both from its enemies. Now that it knows it won't, it puts forward its Socialists to propose that the other side shall not have annexations or indemnities. Like all other Teutonic proposals, it is "heads I win and tails you lose."

No annexations, but the German Socialists are quite ready for amputations—on other countries than their own.

Peace on the terms of the German Socialists would leave Germany as completely the master of Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey as it is of Posen or Alsace. It would be far stronger from a military point of view than it was in 1914, and ready to watch its chance to make another spring on the rest of the world. The self-denial that would forego the annexation of Belgium does not preclude the demand for the absorption of Belgium economically, and a large part of Germany still expects to extend its seacoast to a point where, in the language of one German general, it can "hold a knife at the throat of England." As the Germans use the phrase, "no annexations" is entirely consistent with "rectifications of the frontier," which would result in giving Germany mineral regions that it covets. These are insisted on "to protect Germany from attack."

Germany was not attacked, and there will be no peace until that brazen lie is abandoned, and neither the German Socialists nor the other Germans will name the peace terms. When they are sufficinetly tired of the war they can ask the allies for the terms of peace.

LINCOLN'S PROCEDURE.

Clement Laird Vallandigham, of Ohio, ex-member of congress, violent Lincoln opponent, and peace-at-any-price exponent, opposed the draft in the civil war both on the house floor and later after he left that body. Vallandigham's conduct led to investigation as to his loyalty to the Union. He was arrested May, 1863, court martialed and sentenced to imprisonment at Fort Warren.

President Lincoln, however, exercising war powers of a chief executive, ordered General Burnside to ship Vallandigham across to the enemy's lines. Accordingly, Vallandigham was sent to Murphysboro, whence he was sent across "No Man's Land" to the enemy lines.

At this crisis in our country's history it may be suggested that the time has come when we should send all foreigners who are sympathizing with the central powers of Europe back to their friends. It is said that in our own city some of German extraction have expressed themselves thus: "I'll never be satisfied until I see the flag of the Fatherland floating over the Capitol in Washington." If such enemies of the country were coraled and sent to the land whence they came, where they would encounter famine conditions, it would be a sufficient warning to others who are nestling under the Stars and Stripes.

The Richmond Journal in this connection says prophets of the Emma Goldman stripe, who come to America to enjoy its freedom and then abuse it on every hand, and totally misunderstand and misinterpret the whole spirit of our government, should in time of war, like the present, be treated as traitors or deported to the beloved fatherland whence they fled. Emigrants who mistake license for liberty, who always want to "get" but never give, of themselves or of allegiance, are as a miasma in our slough of too generous hospitality.

NEGRO OUT OF PLACE

During our civil war several concert halls were open nightly in Alexandria. Negro minstrelsy was then at its zenith and most of the features were of the burnt cork variety. The songs were mostly plantation melodies, and some were suggestive of the political opinions of the performers, as was the following:

What will we do when de war breaks
the country up,
And scatters de niggers all around.
With your damned abolition, 'mancipation and secession,
Trying to run de nigger in the ground.
Some say this, some say that, till they get the country in a fight.
What's a hungry nigger gwine to do?

One of the stanzas ended as follows:

Den away with 'mancipation.
Give us back the old plantation,
'Tis the best place in the world for de nigger,
For I tell you I'm a happy contraband.

The federal authorities, exercising a censorship over everything at that time, put a ban upon the rendition of this song.

The wisdom of this ancient melody, however, has often been apparent. The negro was made to believe that the north was Beulah Land, but many who turned their faces in that direction came back sadder and wiser. It is so now, when white men succeed in inducing negroes to emigrate to the north. The victims soon realize that they are out of place, and it is not long before they seek their old abodes.

Exodus of the negroes from East St. Louis Ill., continues following the rioting there. On Wednesday one negro was shot and two others beaten so severely they were removed to hospitals and a number of others received minor injuriers at the hands of mobs which paraded the streets despite extra policemen and deputies and state guardsmen.

GERMANY'S FREEDOM OF SEAS.

When Germany was seeking to hoodwink the United States into taking up its quarrel with England and making itself ridiculous as well as unneutral by insisting upon the concession of the freedom of the seas as the sine qua non for Germany's cessation from the submarine warfare the Berlin pleaders and menacers did not set forth what they meant by freedom of the seas.

This like all things else they would have of the "made in Germany" brand. Count Reventlow at a big annexation meeting which is described by a Dutch professor lately returned home from Germany, where he had been held in a detention camp, stated what was meant by freedom of the seas. This, he said does not mean peace-time freedom of the seas for trade in all seas. This he acknowledged Germany had possessed before the war in a certain sense. He defined freedom of the seas as a German aspiration, to be a degree of naval power that shall guarantee Germany's immediate superiority over possible enemies on the sea at the beginning of hostilities. "That is why the Belgian coast is absolutely necessary to us. We must have the power and facilites immediately to bring our submarines and other naval forces to bear on our principal enemy.

In this connection the Baltimore American says: "Here then is the cat let out of the bag. The ulterior motive of Germany in the cry for freedom of the seas was to carry out its deep designs of preying upon a neighboring power. The only purpose in the hypocritical claim for freedom of the seas is to enable Germany by sea, as it did by land, to spring quickly upon its foes, lulled to a sense of security. The Reventlow interpretation of Germany's real meaning in the phrase is official."

MANY FLEE DRAFT.

One Hundred of Conscriptable Age Held up at Border.

Habana, June 1.—Admitting that their motive in leaving the United States to escape registration under the selective draft, many Americans have arrived in Cuba, during the past few days.

Consul General Rogers has been watching the situation carefully, but stated today their efforts probably will be successful, as the War Department of the United States considers registration abroad as voluntary.

El Paso, Texas, June 1.—Under orders from Washington more than 100 men of conscription age who were trying to get across the line into Mexico have been held up. In practically every instance they were well supplied with money, but carried little baggage.

In view of the fact that reports from government agents in Mexico to Department of Justice officials indicate that several thousand men between the ages of 21 and 31 have crossed the border within the past few weeks, officials have reached the conclusion that most of them are trying to evade conscription.

An investigation will be made into each of the cases of the men held up here.

WATER CLAIMS FOUR.

Three Girl Canoeists Drown and Man Loses Life in Aiding Another.

Scranton, Pa., June 1.—Four young people were drowned in the Susquehanna River, at Hallstead, Wednesday afternoon, when the canoe in which they were enjoying themselvse upset, throwing all four, none of whom could swim, into the river. The tragedy came at the close of a two-hour trip and was the direct result of an attempt on the part of the young women to change their seats.

The quartet, made up of Della Preston, Herman Gaffney, Mildred Shieks and Kenneth Shieks, the latter two brother and sister, had cruised up and down the stream for some time, when the girls, who had been occupying the central portion of the frail craft, expressed a desire to do the paddling. The boys consented and the canoe was taken in near shore and the two girls started to go to the end seats, with the result that the canoe upset.

WOMEN KEEP UP STRIKES.

Foreigners Arrested on Suspicion of Fomenting Discontent.

Paris, June 1.—Strikes continue in the various women's industries, including the women railroad employes, who are asking an increase in wages. Th companies made concessions, but these were not sufficient to satisfy the claims. Gdoups of women continue to gather at the labor headquarters and along the boulevards and streets. The police keep them moving and so far no disturbance has occurred.

A number of foreigners, including two Swiss, two Roumanians, two Greeks and one Turk have been arrested on suspicion of having attempted to create discontent among the working people. They were found to be in possession of questionable documents and large sums of money.

Four individuals with Teutonic accents were heard inciting strikers to disorders. They were in an automobile and escaped arrest.

British casualties in May were 112,233, according to figures compiled from official lists. Of this 5,902 were officers and 106,331 men of other ranks. Most of them fell or were captured in the fighting on the Arras front.

I. W. W. OFFICERS ARRESTED.

Alleged They Plotted To Tie Up Lake Commerce.

Detroit, Mich., June 1.—Federal officials announced yesterday that an alleged plot to tie up Great Lakes commerce through strikes was probably broken up by the raid last night on the local headquarters of the Industrial Workers of the World. Two officers of the organization were arrested and considerable literature was confiscated.

J. Herbert Cole special agent of the Department of Justice, said that an investigation of an attempt to disorganize service on the Great Lakes brought Government agents to the I. W. W. headquarters.

It was said that some of the material seized by the government was "damaging evidence."

DIE AT SEA IN OPEN BOAT

Captain and One of Shipwrecked American Crew Perish.

Havana, May 31.—The loss of the American schooner M. E. Eldridge, of Dennis Mass., and the death of her captain, George Delbat, and one member of her crew who perished from exposure and starvation became known yesterday when eight survivors of the Eldridge were brought in here by a British schooner. The Eldridge left Tampa, Fla., May 5, for Cienfuegos, but sprang a leak and sunk in a hurricane, three days out from Tampa.

The rescued men were picked up yesterday after drifting for 18 days in a small boat without water, and with only a few canned peaches for food. The sailors declared they caught a shark with ropes and drank its blood to sustain life.

KILLED BY TORNADO.

Hundreds Injured in Southern Missouri and Illinois.

St. Louis, Mo., June 1.—Sixty-seven persons were killed in the tornado that swept through several counties in southeast Missouri and southern Illinois Wednesday, according to dispatches received from various sources last night. Hundreds were injured and the property loss was enormous.

Wires are down in the storm-swept districts and communication virtually is impossile.

The greatest loss of life was at Zalma, a village in Bollinger county, Mo., where it was reported that 25 lives were lost and 200 persons were injured. There is no communication with Zalma except overland, and the roads are almost impassable.

Fourteen persons were reported killed near Chaonia in Wayne county, three others at Ardeola, three at Aquilla, two at Salem, one at Lenox, four at Dongola, one at Advance, one at Bismarck and several of those injured at Mineral Point have died, the total dead there now being placed at nine. Four colored persons were killed in southern Illinois. The storm in Missouri was most severe in Bollinger, Scott, Wayne and Washington counties.

Springfield, Mo., June 1.—Several persons were killed Wednesday afternoon in a tornado which swept over the Piney River section of Texas county, 15 miles north of Houston, according to reports brought here last night by automobile. Considerable property damage was reported to have been caused by the storm.

Movement Spreading.

The republican movement in Greece continues to spread. Word was received at Venizelist headquarters yesterday that fresh batches of troops from the loyalists army are joining the republican forces. M. Venizelos, in an interview, charged King Constantine with being continuously in secret communication with Germany.

The already tense situation created by the repeated sinking of Norwegian shipping by German submarines was further aggravated yesterday by the announcement that three more Norwegian vessels have been sunk.

REPUDIATE ANNEXATION.

Austria and Germany, However, Demand Peace With Certain Guarantees.

Amsterdam, June 1.—The declaration is made by the semiofficial Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung of Berlin that Germany desires no extension of territory for the purpose of aggrandizement or of political or economic accretion of power. Germany wishes solely to defend her own territory against foreign plans of conquest, the newspaper says, and moreover demands such guarantees as will serve for the purpose of her future defense and self-protection.

These statements are made in commenting on the recent speeches by Lord Robert Cecil, British minister of blockade, and H. H. Asquith, former British premier. The newspaper says that, apart from the imputations in Mr. Asquith's speech, the principles expounded coincide with those of responsible German quarters, both formerly and during the present war.

Dr. Gustav Gross, leader of the German national league, has been elected president of the lower house of the Austrian parliament, according to a Vienna dispatch. In his opening address Dr. Gross promised freedom of speech and impartiality in debates. He urged the house to see to it that the expectations of Austria's enemies that great dissension would develop during the session should remain unfulfilled.

"We are one in our unshakable determination," he said, "to continue the fight which was forced on us to the greatly desired honorable peace which will guarantee our safety and independence in the future. At the same time nothing is further from our thoughts than suppression of other nations."

Emperor Charles I, in his speech from the throne,, said he is convinced that needful changes in the state and separate kingdoms cannot be made without altering fundamental law. He deferred taking the oath, expecting the new constitution to extend democracy.

VICTIM OF ASSAULT.

Skull of Virginia Boy is Crushed—Crime a Mystery.

Felled by a blunt instrument, which crushed in his skull, William Cavanaugh, 18, is unconscious at the Casualty Hospital, victim of a mysterious assault which has aroused Westmoreland county, Va., where it occurred.

The victim was brought to Washington yesterday. His chances of recovery, the doctors say, are slight. The authorities of Westmoreland county are busy over the case.

Cavanaugh was found on a road near where he worked. He was employed on a farm and was not known to have had any enemies. The boy was discovered by a passing farmer. He had presumably lain in the road from the night previous.

That the youth had put up a fight to defend himself is shown by a fracture of the bones in his left hand and bruises on the arms, apparently inflicted while he was fending off the blows.

ROUND UP AGITATORS

Arrests Made by Department of Justice in Several Cities Yesterday.

A nation-wide round-up of anti-registration agitators was begun by the Department of Justice yesterday.

Arrests were made in New York, Chicago, Columbus, Springfield Mass, and other cities, while on the Pacific Coast the youthful scion of a wealthy family was taken off a steamship while trying to escape into Mexico.

The government has declared war on anti-registration speakers and plotters of all sorts, while every port has been barred to the slackers who would seek to avoid their duty by leaving the country.

Every man between the ages of 21 and 31 is virtually a prisoner now. He cannot leave the United States, no matter how pressing the demand, until after he is registered. No passports will be granted by the State Department except on approval of Provost Marshal General Crowder, in charge of the registration. Only by proving to Gen. Crowder that his registration has been made can a man within the prescribed age limit obtain a passport.

Upon an almost forgotten theatre of war signs flared up yesterday of a new menace to Austria-Hungary at a moment when she needs all available man power on the Iconzo. The Rome war office issued a brief bullettin announcing the capture of four villages in Albania, northeast of the Adriatic seaport of Avlona.
